What is Uniethos
Uniethos is an innovative nonprofit organization that provides advisory and executive educational services to companies in order to develop sustainability in their business, with the participation of their stakeholders and the establishment of partnerships that contribute to increasing the businesses’ competitiveness and share value for society.

What is the purpose of our work
In seeking to develop competencies and innovative management practices and business models to raise the standard of sustainability in business sectors, Uniethos:

- Help companies build references in Sustainability;
- Help companies respond to global challenges and the expectations of their stakeholders;
- Develop education strategies to consolidate skills and business culture based on sustainability;
- Build long term relationships with our clients.

Uniethos believes that sustainability is a key pillar of innovation and business competitiveness

And how Uniethos does it
We analyze the characteristics of the company, its potential for change, the relevance of the project for the company itself and for society.

We contextualize the dilemmas of the industry and identify standards, opportunities, risks, trends and innovative practices.

We analyze the companies’ management, business model and value chain, identifying risks and opportunities facing the dilemmas of sustainability.

From this, we help companies building solutions to the dilemmas of sustainability counting with the involvement of its most important stakeholders.
EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

Genuine sustainability and corporate social responsibility (CSR) practices require a cultural change in the organizations that will lead them to a broadening of their present values and the incorporation of new business visions. The UniEthos educational programs provide the cornerstones for renewed consciousness while building the capacities of managers toward the adoption of sustainability in the companies’ strategy, policies and practices.

STRATEGIC MANAGEMENT FOR SUSTAINABILITY
The Strategic Management for Sustainability is a one-year program that aims to foster the incorporation of sustainability and social responsibility in the organizations’ business strategies by exchanging experiences and building their leadership’s capacity.

OPEN COURSES

CONCEPTUAL ALIGNMENT IN CSR AND SUSTAINABILITY
The course aims to mobilize and align company staff with the concepts of corporate social responsibility (CSR) and sustainable development (SD), in addition to introducing the Ethos CSR Indicators as a diagnostic tool of the company’s sustainability and social responsibility practices.

ETHOS CSR INDICATORS
The course aims to build participants’ skills to use the Ethos CSR Indicators as a managerial tool for diagnostic assessment of the company’s present situation, with regard to CSR issues, and to yield benchmarks that are conducive to embedding the CSR agenda in the organization’s strategic planning and plans of action.

GRI SUSTAINABILITY REPORT
The course aims to build the participants’ capacities in the process of preparing the sustainability report (using Global Reporting Initiative reporting model), and enable reflection, measurement and reporting of the organizations’ social, environmental and economic performance.

INTERNATIONAL STANDARD ISO 26000: GUIDANCE ON SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY
The course objective is to increase participants’ knowledge about the ISO 26000 standard as a reference for implementation of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR).

STAKEHOLDERS ENGAGEMENT
The course aims to promote reflection and further the purpose, methodologies and challenges of the processes of stakeholder relations considering how companies can expand the opportunities for dialogue and engagement towards strategic management of relationships, enabling initiatives for risk prevention and innovation of processes and products.
